CHAP. 817.—An Act To approve and ratify Act Numbered Seventy-three of the legislative assembly of the Territory of Arizona.

Preamble.

Whereas on the nineteenth day of March, nineteen hundred and three, the legislative assembly of the Territory of Arizona enacted the following law:

"To provide for the loan of one hundred thousand dollars for the purpose of making improvements to the Territorial Asylum for the Insane and for authorizing the issuance of bonds for said amount, and for other purposes; and

"Whereas the number of insane persons confined in the Territorial Asylum for the Insane is now almost three hundred; and

"Whereas the accommodations for such insane persons at the Territorial Asylum for the Insane are not adequate for the proper care and accommodation of more than one hundred and fifty insane patients; and

"Whereas as a result of this overcrowded condition in the Territorial Asylum for the Insane many patients are crowded into small rooms only suitable for the accommodation of one or two patients at the most; and, as a further result, it is impossible under existing conditions to make adequate sanitary provisions for the health and welfare of the inmates of said institution for the insane, rendering it impossible for those in charge of said institution to properly separate and classify these unfortunate beings possessed of different kinds and degrees of insanity and kindred affections, but such management is obliged to confine the patients so afflicted in the same wards and rooms miscellaneously; and

"Whereas some of the rooms and wards of the Territorial Asylum for the Insane provided for such unfortunates are so located as not to be accessible to the sunlight at any season of the year, and the health of the patients kept in such cells is thereby greatly endangered and the possibility of restoration to reason and an ultimate cure prevented; and

"Whereas on account of the foregoing conditions it is impossible for the warden of the Territorial Asylum for the Insane to render adequate and ofttimes necessary medical aid and attention to the inmates: Now, therefore,

"Be it enacted by the legislative assembly of the Territory of Arizona.

Pipes.

"SEC. 3. Said W. W. Dimond, for the purpose of distributing such gas for use as by this act authorized, shall have the right from time to time to lay pipes or other conduits for such distribution, in or under the streets, roads, and places in the said district; and whenever supply pipes and mains shall be laid in any block, connections shall be made and pipes shall be laid from said main to the curb line of the street for the purpose of supplying gas to the property holders adjoining such street, and each of such connections shall be provided with stopcocks inside of such curb line: Provided, That nothing herein shall prevent the laying down of additional branches or connections at any time when future requirements render the same necessary. Limitations.

"SEC. 8. It is further provided that the rights hereby granted shall cease and determine, if operations hereunder are not commenced by beginning the construction of buildings or other works for manufacturing or supplying such gas, or by laying pipes or other conduits in any of such streets, roads, or places within one year from and after the passage of this act, or within one year after the franchise hereby granted shall be approved by the Congress of the United States, should such approval be deemed necessary to the legality hereof; and also that such works shall be in operation and gas shall be supplied for the purpose of this act within two years after such work has been so commenced: Provided, That the rights hereby granted shall not be considered exclusive.
